U5 Power Peanut Butter and Tahini Machine Working Principle

Peanut butter machine, also known as grinder, is a homogenizer, bearing, roller, mixer, etc. Due to the relative motion of the machine at high speed, the material to be processed is subjected to a strong shear force, friction force and impact force under the influence of its own weight, pressure and centrifugal force. With high frequency vibrations and other forces, the material is effectively dispersed, pressed and mixed to produce the ideal product. In this way, a wonderful butter or tahini comes out.

Peanut Butter and Tahini Machine Suitable for Your Needs

Our company Ulimac specializes in the research, development and manufacture of peanut butter machines. Our machine produces paste from hazelnuts, peanuts, almonds, walnuts, cashews and poppy, and you can use the same machine to make tahini. Thus, you can make both tahini and peanut butter with the same machine. Our company takes actions by adhering to its practical, innovative, professional service philosophy and customer support in operations and innovations. Our Industrial Peanut Butter Machine products show their integrity, strength and quality on every platform. With our pre-sales and post-sales customer support, we guide you for the most suitable solutions for the product efficiency you need.
